CLARIFICATIONS FOR ALL TARIFFS:

- The tariffs are for background music only, defined as music that creates ambiance but isn't essential to an event or operation of premises.
- Provide an annual playlist and the start date of music playback to determine your licence's commencement period.
- Multi-branch businesses must pay the listed fees for each branch.
- "Audible area" refers to spaces (in m²) where recordings can be heard. To convert square feet to m², multiply the figure by 0.093. The tariff encompasses the entirety of spaces where music is audible, including auxiliary areas.
- Engaging in unlicensed public performances of sound recordings incurs a 50% surcharge on the fees, reflecting RRML administrative efforts against copyright breaches.
- Spaces like bars, cafes, and food courts fall under tariff categories A and B. Public events in these spaces may attract additional fees.
- Royalty distribution: 50% to work authors/creators, and 50% to performers and producers. From the performer/producer share, 50% goes to the music producer/publisher (25% of total), 25% to vocalists (12.5% of total), and 25% to musicians (12.5% of total).
- Taxes are not included in the listed fees.
- Tariffs took effect on 14 September 2023.
